

DEVELOPING CHINESE – Level 2UNIT 7: I Need a Doctor*Assessment: Interpersonal Speaking and Writing*Learning Targets

- I can ask and answer basic personal questions to fill out paperwork at a hospital or doctor's office.
- I can explain what is wrong with me or someone else.
- I can ask about and tell what happened to me or someone else.
- I can get clarification about a prescription or medical instruction.

Proficiency GoalScenario 1

While on vacation in Beijing you tripped and fell while climbing the Great Wall. Two other friends helped you to the bus. After arriving at the nearest hospital, there is an agonizing two-hour wait, and you have a headache from the heat. Finally it's your turn. The doctor is going to ask you some questions about yourself and what happened.

Expect to answer questions about:

- Your basic personal information
- What your problem is
- What happened that caused the problem
- Your medical history
- Anything else the doctor might need to know in order to treat you.

Scenario 2

You are completing a nursing internship at a local university. A female patient comes in who only speaks Chinese. The bilingual nurse is off that day, so they ask you to help interpret and fill out some basic paperwork. You gladly accept!

- Greet the patient and make her feel comfortable.
- Ask the patient some basic personal questions (name, age, address, etc.) using the patient information form below.
- Ask what happened to the patient and what hurts them.
- Take notes on the form below based on the information the patient gives you.

If you can think of a recommendation based on the symptoms given, feel free to do so to make the patient feel a bit more at ease.
